Sub.: Sharing of teaching content in higher education – reg
Ref. : D.O. Letter no. ED 36 Pri secy (HE) 2015 date 24/02/2015 from Principal Secretary, Higher Education Govt. of Karnataka

Sir,

With reference to the above subject and reference, I am enclosing herewith the D.O. letter from the Principal Secretary, Higher Education, Govt. of Karnataka addressed to Hon'ble Vice chancellor, Gulbarga University regarding sharing of teaching content in higher education. Dept. of Higher Education, Govt. of Karnataka is planning to establish a separate server for the teaching content prepared in electronic form by the teachers for UG and PG courses so that other universities and institutions can access and take benefit of it.

I hereby request you to circulate it among all teachers in your department/ institution. Those who are interested in publishing such econtent may send the details to Dr. Darley S. Pattathil, Head of Computer Centre, Gulbarga University, Gulbarga

Thanking you.

Yours faithfully

My Dear Sh Naik

Subject: Sharing of teaching content in higher education-Reg

Higher Education goals are of utmost importance for all in today's societies. It is therefore required to achieve well being for all people and communities. There is a huge scope for improving quality in both administration and academics by leveraging the higher education system with Information and Communication Technologies (ICT). Some of the important ICT initiatives include E-content preparation, Online College Affiliation system, Online Admissions and Examination systems, Digitization of Library resources, EDUSAT satellite and Web based learning, Smart Class setup, eMIS and Virtual Class setup, Bio Metric attendance of teacher/student and many more.

Sharing the knowledge with others will enhance the knowledge level of the teachers and students, by providing the video contents, NTPL/EDUSAT contents, of various subjects which are in practice for UG & PG level of various subjects. If all students of Karnataka can have access to all contents with all institutions it would revolution learning in Karnataka.

Department of Higher Education is planning to establish a separate server for all such contents to which other universities and institutions can access and take the benefit of it. You would agree that every Teacher is unique in communicating with students. If contents of learning & teaching are shared using technology, it would empower our students in a big way. Students are the major stakeholders and they deserve the best of knowledge. It is our duty to make it possible. Hence, I request you kindly to send the list of e-content (video/audio/by SIT/edusat/NPTL and if any) developed by your university for UG & PG level, discipline wise, subject wise and language wise (whether English, Kannada or Hindi or any other language) to enable us to plan and establish Data Centre. Also kindly give the name and number of authorised IT person who can be contacted in future to make this happen.

Kindly treat this matter as urgent and reply to edksheo@yahoo.com.

With regards

Yours

Sincerely
Marathel
